

Welcome to Jr. Writing Club!

Each week of our series we will:

- View a recorded “Pep Talk” from a writing expert
- Look at our suggested writing prompt
- Brainstorm and write
- Share by registering for “Show & Tell” on Friday’s starting July 24th – August 21st at 2 pm. Go to our calendar of events on www.manliuslibrary.org to register. Click on the “Show & Tell” on the date you’d like to share with me. Once you are registered, the day before you’ll receive an email with the link to join me live in Zoom! Having trouble registering? Call the library at 315-682-6400 and ask for help registering for “Show & Tell” on the date you’d like to share. (July 24th, 31st, August 7th, 14th or 21st)

Before we begin, I’d like you to figure out where you’d like to do your writing. Where would it be? What will you write on? Just looseleaf paper, a notebook or journal? Are you a pencil or pen writer? Or maybe you’ll type on a computer to compose your writing?

“Pep Talk” - Andy Prentice from Usborne Publishing says, “Making mistakes is normal!” He gives more tips on how to keep writing in his Pep Talk. Check it out <https://youtu.be/KcVixTq06bA>

Writing Prompt: Imagine if you could meet your favorite author, someone from history, a movie star, famous artist, or anyone without any difficulty. Who would it be? Write about the one person you would love to meet.

Brainstorm: Jot down five people you would like to meet. Why would you want to meet the person? What would you do? What would you talk about?

Write: After you have brainstormed, pick one person and write about him or her!

Share: Don’t forget to register for Show & Tell to share with me!
