

Tech Tip of the Week

July 20, 2020

See the Stars

Have you ever looked up at the night sky and wondered what constellations and planets you can see? There are resources available to help you learn more including applications for your smart phone.

Starview Lite

A free app available for both iOS and Android devices. Point your device at the sky and the app will identify constellations, satellites, and planets. The app can also notify you about stargazing events.

Hubble Space Telescope

You can view images and learn more about the sky at the official website for the Hubble Space Telescope.

<https://hubblesite.org/>

Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum

Take a virtual of the museum from the comfort of your home.

<https://airandspace.si.edu/>